

PRIVACY POLICY OF DIGIBYTE ALLIANCE

PLEASE REVIEW THESE TERMS CAREFULLY BEFORE USING OUR WEBSITE.

We, at DigiByte Alliance, want you to know your rights to your information, what you can expect from us, and the protection of your information while you are using our website.

Here is what you should know about the information:

We do collect Information:

We request information from you to fulfill orders, provide products and services, and to tailor our advertising to the specific needs of buyers and users. The information you provide also helps us to provide our terms of services, improve our websites, offer products and services, manage your account, analyze use of our website, and provide protection against fraud. We may share non-personal information with advertisers and others.

Information that is collected and where it is stored:

The information that is collected may include personally identifying information such as name, email address, username, passwords, and other non-identifying information such as your interests and activities, gender, or age. (See Wyo. Stat. § 40-12-501). This information may be stored on our secure servers or may be stored at other secure storage locations. We will not share the information you provide with any third-party without your consent.

Cookies:

We use cookies and other technologies to receive and store certain information whenever you interact with us or third-parties that use our services. This information helps us recognize you, create a customized experience for you, and tailor marketing messages to your preferences. Examples of this information might include ads or articles you click on, type of browser you use, search terms, and geographic location.

Minors:

This Website and the services we provide are not intended for children under the age of 18 years. We do not intentionally collect information from minor children who are under the age of 18 years. Our website is not designed to attract children to use it, however we also cannot prevent them from accessing the website in the same way that a parent can restrict and monitor the use of the internet by their child.

Sharing information with third-parties:

We do not sell your information to third parties. When using our website, if you post information about yourself or others, we cannot control who reads your posts or what they do with any information you share.

In the event of a security breach, we are required by Wyoming state law to comply with requests from the Attorney General for information which may include our user's information (Wyo. Stat. § 40-12-502). We may be required to disclose information including but not limited in the following instances:

- a) If required to do so by law, court order, or subpoena, or as requested by other government, law enforcement, or investigative authority;
- b) If we in good faith believe that disclosure is necessary or advisable, including without limitation to protect our rights or properties;
- c) If we have reason to believe that disclosing your personal information is necessary to identify, contact, or bring legal action against someone who may be causing interference with our rights or properties, or has breached an agreement, or if anyone else could be harmed by such activities or interference;
- d) If we recognize that an ad violates our terms of use or the rights of a third party; and / or
- e) If we believe there is an emergency involving personal danger.

We collect information to communicate with you:

Occasionally, we will send you information and announcements about our Website and our services. Opting out of ongoing email communication from our organization is always your choice. You can opt out by directly contacting us or through other means that we provide.

E-Commerce:

We use secure processes intended to protect user information and maintain security of data. A unique username and password are assigned to each account-holder, which is required to access their account. It is the user's responsibility to protect the security of this login information.

The commercial transactions that occur on the Website are processed securely to make every reasonable effort to ensure that your personal information is protected in accordance with Wyo. Stat. § 6-3-901. Any transactions that take place on other sites that have links from the Website are not necessarily handled in this fashion. We disclaim any responsibility for transactions conducted on those sites and cannot vouch for the security of the information submitted in those transactions.

We have taken measures to secure our servers by locating them in areas with security procedures, using firewalls, and implementing other available security technologies. These safeguards help prevent unauthorized access, maintain data accuracy, and ensure the appropriate use of data, but no guarantee can be made that your information and data will be secure from intrusions and unauthorized release to third-parties.

Links to other Sites:

Our Website sometimes provides links to other websites maintained by other organizations. We provide these links as a convenience to users, but it does not operate, control or endorse such sites. We disclaim any responsibility for the information on those sites and any products or services offered there, and cannot vouch for the privacy policies of such sites (if any). We do not make any warranties or representations that any linked sites (or even the Website) will function without error or interruption, or that defects will be corrected.

Acceptance of Privacy Policy:

By using our Website and Services, you signal your acceptance of this Privacy Policy. If you change your mind, or do not agree with our Privacy Policy described here, you may discontinue use of our Website and Services.
